Mr. Jeffrey Shippy

As one of five children born to a single mother, Jeffrey dropped out of school in the 7th grade, only to find himself struggling in his early adult years with unemployment, education and a passion for finding purpose and meaning in his life. After being laid off from his job in 2001, Jeffrey decided to take control of his life by going back to school to earn his high school diploma. He continued his education further by getting an associate's degree in theology, as well as attending Spartanburg Community College to obtain a license in real estate. Additionally, this ambitious young man went on to complete his education even further by becoming a Certified Life Coach. Jeffrey is now a highly sought-after motivational speaker & professional life coach whose passion is to help others achieve their goals, personal growth and to find their purpose in life. He has become a very successful entrepreneur and real estate investor with over a million dollars in personal real estate. Jeffrey now mentors over 100 people in real estate investing. Jeffrey is the husband of his beautiful wife of 14 years, Angela, and the father of six wonderful children
